

Fundraising Ideas For Individuals

The generosity of Cambodian Children's Fund's supporters allows hundreds of families to receive life-changing help. Giving a helping hand is easier than you think, as there are a number of ways to help the cause and raise awareness.

This guide will give you some fundraising ideas to support CCF on your own. When you get a project started, please let us know so we can feature your work to other supporters.

Where to Begin

- One of the simplest and most effective ways to fundraise is to talk about it! Tell people you know about CCF and the work that is happening in Cambodia. Tell them about how you got involved and the needs of the organization.
- Point as many people as possible to the CCF website so they'll know where their money will be going, and what it will achieve. Share some of the videos on the CCF YouTube page, such as the Australian Story documentary.
- Donations can be made via www.cambodianchildrensfund.org via credit card. Donations are tax deductible for residents of the US, Australia, Hong Kong and the UK.

Ideas for Events and Activities

There have been a number of unique ideas from our supporters, ranging from huge undertakings to much simpler methods. No matter the size or scope of the project, every little bit helps and is appreciated.

- Sell items on eBay and donate the profits. CCF has registered for Mission Fish, a nonprofit that allows eBay sellers to donate proceeds to a charity of their choice. To learn more, visit www.missionfish.org.

- The website Everyday Hero allows user to create a supporter page for CCF in order to generate donations from friends and family. The donation goals can be big or small. Here's an example of an ambitious yet successful campaign.
- Organize a team or group hike, bike race, or a run - and collect pledges for each mile or hour completed.
- Arrange a sale by gathering any goods that you, friends and family don't want. Price each item, and possibly sell larger items in an auction format.
- Hold a bake sale, lemonade stand, or even a car wash.
- Make handmade items - like jewelry, knitted scarves or note cards - and sell them. Some of our talented supporters have had great success with this. Some crafted items for a living and donating a portion of the earnings, while others made items specifically to raise funds for CCF.
- Every penny counts. Some businesses may allow a donation jar, allowing patrons to donate small amounts to CCF. It's a passive fundraising method that requires just a little work. Here's a guide on how to make the container.
- Host a dinner for a group of friends and colleagues, with each guest making a pledge to donate to CCF.
- Organize a team of volunteers to do projects - anything from house painting or cleaning out garages, to planting trees or stuffing envelopes - and then contribute the payment for these services to CCF.
- Kids can sign up to do chores for friends and neighbors - from grocery shopping to snow-shoveling to dog-walking - and then donate their payments.
